“ So sorry to your family. We lost a fellow Maineard. I just bought a truck from Chris 3 weeks ago and being from same town as Chris and wife, we talked all about Maine. He was a great guy and so fun to talk to. You will be missed! Joe R.

“ My uncle Chris, aka my Bubba was one of a kind. He had a heart of gold, his presence lit up the room and his laughter was contagious. Not only was he a wonderful uncle he was a wonder husband to his wife Wendy and a fantastic fun loving father to his son Tyler. He adored and loved his family so much.

I have so many wonderful memories of Bubba, every summer I'd visit my father in Florida. One year when I was about 8, Chris drove me to Florida from Massachusetts to see my father for summer break. He always wanted to make sure my dad saw me every summer and didn't want me to fly alone. Instead Chris wanted to spend time with me and drive me there. He knew that family time was important. I must say tho we had the best car trips. Oh sooo many hilarious car rides. On This trip tho we would count Jeep's. White Jeep's are two points and every other color was one point. He loved his Jeep's and it showed. He always won. We even played that often as I got older. He also use to reave up the engine in his jeep to make cars go faster. We use to get a kick out of that. He brought me off roading once in his jeep and it was one of the best days I've ever had. We were covered from mud head to toe. This is the type of guy Chris was. He was always so happy and full of life. The type of person you always want to be around. Your instant best friend. I have many of many of memories of chris, all hilarious happy ones. I would easily and happily post them all but this post might become a novel. Yes that's how awesome he was. If you know him personally your probably thinking the same thing. I will cherish every single one of those memories, moments, and videos. I will miss him dearly, he was my favorite person, he always made me smile. My thoughts and prayers are with Wendy and Tyler, there is not a second that goes by I'm not thinking of you both. I love you both.
