“ Cindy or my nickname for her was Toot because she was a small lady . My nickname was Trouble that is what she always called me. She was a special person and a bestie to me . We met in 1999 and became friends from then on . We did so much together shopping , went to the flea market just about every weekend, there was not to many places that we went to together, When she had projects at home to do I always helped her . When she had problems or I had problems we always were there for each other. She was such a special person everyone loved her . We had a very special bond together we loved one another with all our heart. We have been friends since 1999 and a lasting relationship.
